

We want to be able to switch the main power supply on and off manually AND using a smart home system.